What is Typography ?

Typography is the art andtechnique of arranging typeface (fonts),selecting fonts,arranging letters and designing the overall layout to make written language legible,readable and visually appealing.It involves the creative use of font,spacing,sizing and other design elements to convey information effectively and enhance visual aesthetics of written communication.

Font Categories

01 Serif

Serif fonts are characterised by the small lines or strokes (serifs) attached to the ends of letters.These fonts convey a traditional and formal feel.Serifs contribute to readability and guide the reader's eye along text.

Use Cases:

- Often used in print media like books,newspapers and magazines for body text.
- conveys a sense of authority and profesionalism, making it suitable for formal documents.

02 Sans Serif

Sans Serif fonts lacks the decorative strokes at the end of letters,resulting in a clean and modern appearance. They are straightforward and often associated with contemporary and minimalistic aesthetic.

Use Cases:

- Widely used in digital interfaces,websites and mobile apps for their readability on screens.
- Popular for branding ,logos and contemporary design projects.

03 Display

Display fonts are designed to be attention grabbing and are often more decorative or stylized.They come in various creative shapes and sizes,making them suitable for headlines and titles.

Use Cases:

- Ideal for grabbing attention in headlines ,bannners and posters.
- Adds a touch of personality to design projects, creating a visual impact.

04 Script

Script font mimics cursive handwriting or calligraphy. They are flowing and elegant,often with connecting letters.Script fonts add a personal and artistic touch to designs.

Use Cases:

- Used for invitations,greeting cards and any design where a touch of elegance is desired.
- Suitable for logos and branding projects seeking a more personalized feel
